

A Day in Life of a Daly City Police Recruit

By FRANK LAPIERRE

A day in the training life of a recruit police officer in Daly City starts with a 7:30 a.m. briefing at police headquarters and ends at 4:30 p.m. with a debriefing.

Neither ceremony is "brief" and often requires a minimum of 30 minutes.

Actually, a recruit's briefing is only slightly less complicated than the regular police officer and deals primarily with what the lessons of the day will consist of. In an advanced recruit's briefing he is told where his patrol sector will be and what special things to look out for—such as an area that has registered a high incidence of burglaries in recent weeks.

At 7:55 a.m. the officers are inspected by Captain David Hansen. In his absence, another ranking officer would assume this duty.

Ten weeks, and 400 hours of formal training later, the recruit status has been cast off and the new regular "cop" is assigned a beat and all the headaches that go with it.

He has already had at least three weeks in the field and seven long weeks in the classroom studying under various instructors and "learning the law."

Before the recruit is turned free on the community he has been instructed in everything from uniform arrangements to the current penal code.

Promptly at 8 a.m. some recruits team with regular officers and together they inspect their assigned patrol cars. The vehicle is checked from bumper to bumper to insure that all safety equipment is working and that certain tools of the trade—such as a 12 gauge shotgun, radio and first aid kit—are properly stocked.

The officer is also looking for any items a previous suspect might have hid away in the vehicle after his arrest.

"We have found marijuana, hard drugs and even a gun in the patrol cars over the years," Captain Hansen revealed.

Officer Richard Seguire is taking over a police recruit "saturation team" for the week and briefs his men on what to look for in their areas. He also tells them what not to do.

Another veteran policeman, Stephen Steen is placed in charge of a sector where his men will be assigned and he follows Seguire's routine in briefing his teams.

Recruits Steve Lowe and John Mallin are assigned to sector three, District P & Q, which covers a wide district east of Mission Street in "old" Daly City. This team is a saturation unit and that's just what they do—saturate a neighborhood, checking garages, parked cars, saying "hello" to people and generally making themselves obvious.

Crime has been sharply cut in areas of the city since this method of patrol has been initiated, according to statistics.

Lowe explains why he wanted to become a cop:

"It may sound phony, but the reason I became a policeman is because a care—I really do! Two years ago I was in Vietnam as a civil affairs officer working with refugees . . . I like the idea of helping people."

Asked to comment on those people who call cops "pigs," Mallin replied:

"That means, 'Police Is Good.' I may not like to be called a pig, but it doesn't bother me because I'm not a pig." Lowe interjected.

Mallin is an ex-Marine, a former brig warden in the Corps and already knows his way around police stations and jails.

"I just decided to follow through after leaving the Marines and thought it would be an interesting job," he said.

To both men, Daly City has the toughest requirements for joining the department of any police force in the state.

They admit to getting better than average training, but think more time should be spent in the field.

"Unless you get out and see how it really works, you really don't know anything about the law," Lowe said.

Skyline College Host To Visitors on Sunday

Residents, students and visitors will get their first opportunity to see the $10,000,000 Skyline College complex at 3300 College Drive, San Bruno from 1 to 4 p.m. Sunday.

Phase 1 of the new facility is located just off Skyline Boulevard between Westborough Boulevard and Sneath Lane.

Student guides will be available, as well as daytime and evening catalogues. All buildings will be open for tours and inspection and refreshments will be served.

Visitors will find adequate parking—the new college has seven separate parking lot areas to serve both students and public.

"We urge as well as cordially invite everyone interested in education to visit Skyline College. We extend this opportunity in order to have all citizens, residents and students to see the latest facilities and plans for this college as proposed and developed by the San Mateo Junior College District Board of Trustees and with the support of the veterans of San Mateo County," Philip C. Garlington, president of Skyline College, declared.

The open house of the new college will feature the four main buildings—fine arts and administration, physical education, science, and academic, and the various unique features within each structure.

"If the weather for the month of September holds true to its past traditions the visitors also will have an opportunity to sights—the view of the entire Pacific Coast and ocean from Half Moon Bay to the approaches to the Golden Gate. The college is in a beautiful setting and we invite everyone to take part in our open house activities," Garlington stated.

SSF Housewife Jumps in Front Of Train, Dies

A South San Francisco housewife Monday was killed instantly as she ran in front of a southbound Southern Pacific commuter train rolling through San Bruno.

San Bruno police said Mrs. Jeanne Ruby Hobson, 33, of 646 May Avenue, South San Francisco, was killed at approximately 7:30 p.m.

The incident occurred about 76 feet south of San Mateo Avenue. Piecing together various reports of witnesses, police constructed this pattern:

The victim, married but reportedly having marital difficulties, had been in a bar across the street from the accident site. As the train was heard approaching, she is reported to have said, "There is my train," and got up and ran across the street, falling in front of the passing locomotive.

The train, driven by Dennis J. Wells, 63, of San Jose, was traveling at about 55 mph.

Police were told by the bartender that the victim was sober but acted despondent. A police report indicates she had attempted suicide in 1961.

One policeman, indicating the victim was a former resident of San Bruno, said he had known her for a "good number of years, and was quite surprised that she would take that route. But we don't know what goes on in people's minds."

2 Men Held In Shooting Of Recruiter

Two men have been arrested by Pacifica police on charges of assault with a deadly weapon and intent to commit murder as a result of last Wednesday's shooting of a U.S. Navy recruiter.

Jailed after their surrender to police on Friday were Joseph D. Moncada, 20, of San Francisco, and Miguel Jara, 25, of South San Francisco.

Police spokesmen said they arrived with an attorney, John R. Browne of San Francisco, to give themselves up, after word had been relayed to them, through Jara's parents, that warrants for their arrest had been issued.

The pair are charged with the shooting of 32-year-old Larry Wrinkle, a Navy recruiter who lives at 348 Clifton Drive, Pacifica, who is recuperating from ear and arm wounds at Oak Knoll Hospital.

Police told this story: Mrs. Toni Jara, 515 Manor Drive, Pacifica, said to be the ex-wife of suspect Jara, reported that she and victim Wrinkle were driving in an automobile near the intersection of Manor Drive and Monterey Boulevard at about 12:45 a.m., when she

Fall Victim's Condition Is Still Guarded

James L. Craig, the 13-year-old youth that tumbled over a cliff behind a Daly City playground a week ago, has been transferred to Kaiser Hospital from Mary's Help Hospital.

He was reported "responding" to treatment but still in guarded condition.

James was attempting to recover a football with his younger brother, Raymond, and a friend, Steve Brown, when he lost his footing while climbing down the steep cliff behind Northridge Park playground.

Rescuers said young Craig was unconscious when they picked him up. He was rushed to Mary's Help Hospital where it was found that he suffered from head injuries.

The Whole Farmer's Bit

BEFORE IT WAS HARVESTED, there was a fine crop of 13 marijuana plants growing recently in a Colma area that was shielded from view. Colma Police Chief Al Lagorharsino (left) and Broadmoor Chief Ray Savage inspect the plants, which were discovered quite by accident by a neighboring gardener who stumbled upon the crop as he hunted for his watering hose. The "pot" grower had been using the hose to water the marijuana patch, which was destroyed by the authorities when the "farmer" hadn't returned a few days later. (Post Photo)

Salesman Held After 4 Hurt in Coast Crash

Parks Wayne Earnhardt, 27, in the southbound lane when a passing car which pulled into the lane hit a car driven by Yelgway J. Ong, 40, stationed at McClellan Air Force Base near Sacramento.

Witnesses provided the patrolmen with a description of the other car, which failed to stop. At 4:05 p.m., Patrolman Rhett C. Brandenburg spotted the suspect vehicle on Cabrillo Highway near Pescadero Road and stopped it.

Another victim of the holiday weekend accidents, Jeffery Glass, 18, of 91 Lausanne Avenue, Daly City, was reported improving in the intensive care unit at Mary's Help Hospital where he was taken Saturday after being knocked unconscious when he fell from the bed of a pickup truck on Radio Road, two miles south of Guadalupe Expressway near Daly City.

Deputy Sheriff Ronald Carlson reported that the youngster was hitch-hiking on Radio Road about noon and was given a ride in the truck by Gilbert Majano, 37, of 147 Bepler Street, Daly City.

Majano told the deputy that he had stopped for the youth at the bottom of the road, and when the truck reached the top of the road he looked back and discovered the boy was gone.

Meanwhile, young Glass was found lying unconscious in the middle of the road by a passing motorcyclist, Curtis A. Ryan, 28, of San Francisco, who summoned an ambulance.

San Bruno to Participate In Co-operative Library

San Bruno intends to take part in forming a co-operative library system, on a two year trial. Several other Peninsula cities, already have committed themselves to joining the system.

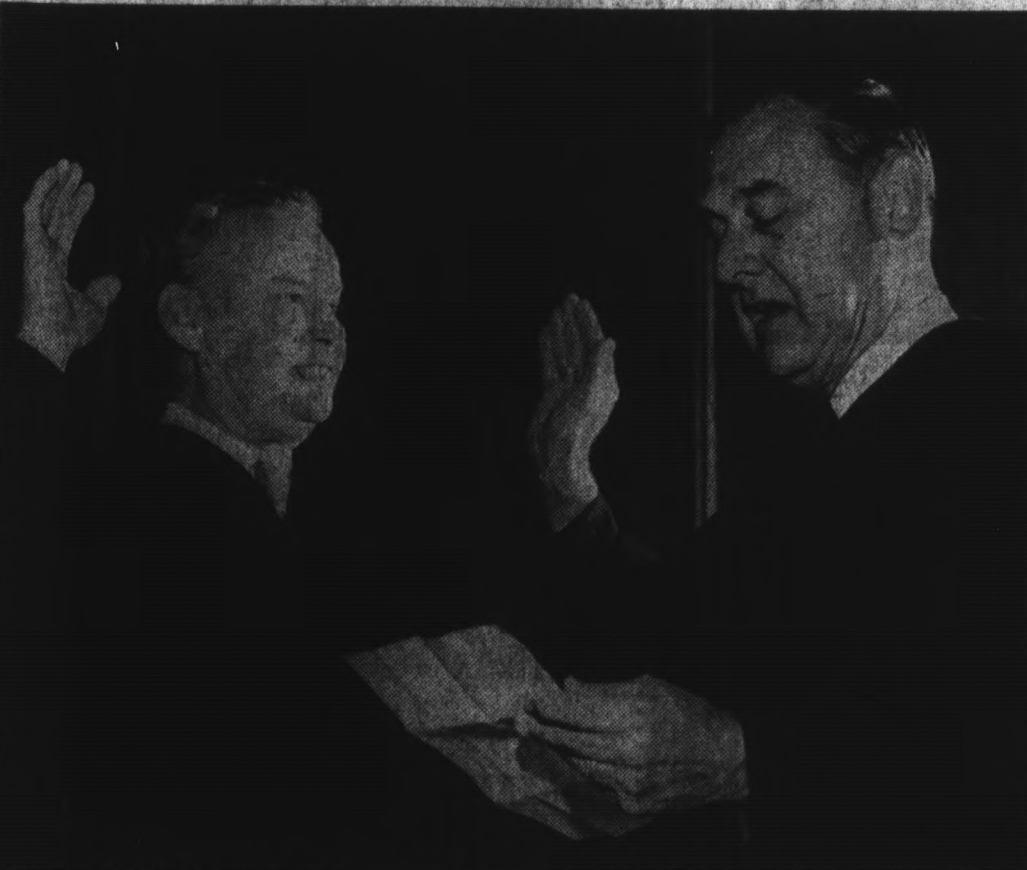

According to the resolution adopted by the councilmen, "public interest and convenience will be served" by the city's participation.

The system will be formed by the joining of various existing independent libraries in the county. Savings will be effected in the cost of performing certain operations and providing certain services without loss of local control and jurisdiction. Residents, for example, will have access to any reference material or both—free.

The expense of establishing the system will be borne by a state grant.

San Bruno will retain full, complete and exclusive control over any and all materials collected for its libraries.

Substance had been placed on corner of roof that day. It apparently failed to cool and ignited. Water could not penetrate the material and it subsequently was shoveled off.

D.C. Playground Schedules Given

The Recreation division of the newly formed Department of Recreation Parks and Maintenance announced that local schoolyard playgrounds will be closed until September 22.

On that day the Fall Recreation Program will be resumed.

Reason for this cessation of operation is the need of the schools to prepare the premises for the fall term that will start on September 10.

Also the fact that the majority of recreation leaders will not finish registration at their schools until September 19 and therefore not be available to conduct the program is cited.

City Recreation facilities will continue to operate on the following schedule:

Marchbanks Park, Monday through Friday, Saturday and Sunday 10 to 4 p.m.

After September 10, 3:30 to 5 p.m.; Saturday and Sunday from 10 to 4 p.m. Westlake Park will follow the same schedule as Marchbanks Park.

Answers to questions regarding the recreation programs or facilities will be answered at the Division Office at 134 Hillside Boulevard.

Transportation 'Hotline' Organized for Students

Transportation to get that important education has become as much a part of the student's life as the activities in the classroom or on Skyline's campus.

Therefore, with the cooperation of two north San Mateo County agencies, Skyline College has instituted a "transportation-information hotline" for emergency situations. This is an information seeking service and does not guarantee transportation.

"We are attempting to secure information about the transportation needs for the students who plan to attend or who have already enrolled at Skyline College," president Philip C. Garlington declared.

The two groups which the college is seeking information from are those students who have not as yet enrolled because they will have no transportation to attend classes and those students who have enrolled, but will need transportation during the school year.

Those persons phoning for assistance should give the following information: Full name, address, city, phone number, sex, and times in which transportation will be needed.

The transportation-hotline offices are:

Cowboys Coming To Cow Palace

Professional cowboys from throughout the United States and Canada will compete for more than $50,000 in prize money at the Grand National Rodeo, October 24 through November 2, according to George Strathearn, Cow Palace manager.

"Since the Grand National is the last large-scale rodeo on the professional circuit prior to the National Finals in Oklahoma City, we are always assured of the keenest competition by the very best cowboy talent," said Strathearn.

Only the top 15 cowboys in each event — based upon individual money winnings for the year — qualify to compete in the finals. The Grand National purse, one of pro rodeo's largest, provides great incentive for the leaders to try and maintain their positions and hope for other cowboys to earn enough here to gain a top-15 spot, he added.

Brahma bull riding, calf roping, steer wrestling and saddle and bareback bronc riding will make up the rodeo format.

Such outstanding 1968 competitors as 25-year-old all-around cowboy champion Larry Mahan; calf roping titlist Glen Franklin and Shawn Davis and Clyde Vamvoras, the saddle and bareback bronc champions, respectively, are scheduled to compete.

Added excitement for the Grand National will be provided by events from the horse show, featuring the World's Championship Jumper Sweepstakes, and the annual livestock exposition.

Jeff Elementary Insurance Hiked

The cost of insuring the Jefferson Elementary School District is going to be at least half again as high this year as it was last year. Premiums costing $27,000 last year will be in the area of $40,000 this year.

This fact was made known to school board members last night by Ricco Lagomarsino, the district's agent of record.

Lagomarsino, who also heads the North San Mateo County Insurance Association which writes the district's insurance, was instructed to prepare a new policy after the district was notified of cancellation of insurance coverage by Fireman's Fund.

The cancellation was made August 19. Fireman's Fund, however, continues to cover the district until new coverage can be obtained elsewhere.

"For the present, the district has blanket coverage with the exception of riot and civil disturbance and burglary," said Lagomarsino.

"Two years ago we wrote a comprehensive liability policy for the entire school district," said Lagomarsino. "Everything was fine until a lot of burglary losses inside of 20 months these losses approximated $12,000. The premium on this phase of the policy was $3,000."

"I know the school did all they could to alleviate the problem, including installation of burglar alarms," said Lagomarsino, "but I haven't been able to sell the company that everything is okay. Burglary loss has now reached $14,000."

Lagomarsino, attempting to write a new policy for the past three months, says "school business throughout the state and nation is getting rougher and rougher. A lot of companies have been cancelling. No one seems to want it."

Board members listened intently as Lagomarsino related the problem of obtaining sufficient coverage. Supt. Frank Greenwood and Asst. Supt. Roger Barthuli were instructed to check further into the situation and report back to the board.

"I've never worked so hard in my life trying to sell insurance," said Lagomarsino. "Daly City is considered a high crime rate area by insurance companies."

Lagomarsino said he could get only one company to write a liability policy and that would exclude the coverage on riots and civil disorders. He said he has been absolutely unable to get any company for burglary coverage.

"It's not like the old method of insurance coverage where one company wanted to handle it all itself. Today you've got the best possible package," he mentioned that Jefferson Elementary would have a $5,000 deductible policy whereas burglary, for example, carries $100,000 deductible.

Barthuli said other agents had approached the district regarding insurance, but none reappeared for a second go-around after learning what the district desired in the way of insurance.

According to Barthuli, the district coverage includes $1 million single limit liability per person, per occurrence; a $10,000 bond on all employees; $12 million fire coverage; plus such other regular coverage areas as boiler and pressure vessels.

PSYCHOLOGY

Some 1,500 years ago, a Korean general flew a kite to help win a battle. An ill omen — a shooting star — had panicked his troops. The commander secretly sent up a torch-bearing kite to suggest to his men that the errant star was returning to its place. Next day, the troops soundly defeated superior forces.

Police in D.C. Arrest Hit-Run Suspect, 16

Daly City detectives yesterday arrested a 16-year-old San Francisco youth on charges of murder stemming from the hit and run death of a U. S. Navy enlisted man August 4.

Detective Sergeant Robert Staples said the charge against Robert Wayne Caldwell, 16, of 819 Girard Street, possibly would be lowered to manslaughter.

Caldwell was booked into Hillcrest Juvenile Center yesterday following his arrest at the San Francisco Youth Guidance Center where he was being held on an auto theft charge.

On August 4, two sailors stationed at Treasure Island Naval Base were riding on a motorcycle on Geneva Avenue near the Cow Palace when a car allegedly driven by the young suspect swerved across the center line, striking the bike and killing Di- dio Vela, 19.

The passenger, Michael Beckler, 19, lay bleeding and moaning in the street with a crushed leg. He was reported in satisfactory condition at Oak Knoll Naval Hospital today.

Instead of offering aid to the injured victim, Caldwell walked over to the crumpled bodies, turned around and drove off, witnesses said. The car stopped several blocks away and would not restart.

Caldwell allegedly abandoned the vehicle on a side street near the accident scene.

Staples said evidence left behind in the car eventually led to Caldwell, whom they charge was alone at the time of the incident.

DISTRICT GOVERNOR Harold K. Graves (right), is welcomed on his annual visit to the Daly City Rotary Club by club president Stan Cohen. Dr. Graves, who is governor of District 513, Rotary International, and superintendent of the Baptist Theological Institute in Mill Valley, was hosted by the local club and its members last week.

D. C. Meets With Water Commission

Daly City officials met with Dimond Water District commissioners Thursday to discuss problems affecting each agency and to listen to the water district's annual progress report.

Chairman Bill Counts, of the Water District, informed Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lycett that the district had been "remiss in preparing a report" and was unable to provide one to the city.

He informed the mayor that such a report would be submitted during the upcoming February 1970 meeting.

One of the biggest problems facing the district today, Counts told the city, was the withdrawal of engineering services which had been provided—free of charge—by the city in the past.

City Manager David Rowe explained that due to the loss of Department of Public Works head Art Reschke and Water Department supervisor George Alphin, the engineering department was left with only two engineers and they were committed to city duties at present.

Rowe said the emergency aid would continue as needed within the Dimond District and pointed out that only last Monday such assistance was rendered. He further stated that if there were any changes in this emergency aid status he would notify the water district in sufficient time to allow them to make other arrangements.

Daly City engineers had assisted the water district by reviewing plans and inspecting the projects being accomplished in the 800-plus user area under the jurisdiction of the district. If certain work was required to be done by the city a nominal charge of cost (for material) plus 15 per cent is charged to the district.

The use of city engineers on the "outside" water district would enable them to put aside money towards other projects at a faster rate, it was explained.

Presently, the district is working on a project on McDonald Street and plans to improve the water line along a block and a half section of Geneva Avenue, Counts told the three councilmen attending the dinner meeting at Val's Restaurant.

Lycett expressed surprise over the disclosure that the water district had undertaken the Geneva Avenue improvements and asked Counts how long this latest project would take.

Counts said he could not forecast how long it would take at this time, but promised to complete the projects with the help of his fellow commissioners "without the aid of Daly City" if it was necessary.

The Dimond Water District is a separate entity that covers a small part of Brisbane, San Bruno, San Mateo County and a part of Daly City in the Bayshore section of the city.

South S.F. Tax Rate Is 91-Cents

South San Francisco councilmen Wednesday approved a city budget for the 1969-70 fiscal year setting the property tax rate at 91 cents per each $100 of assessed valuation, the same rate in effect during the past year and the lowest tax rate in the county.

The special levy for the West Park Maintenance District will also remain at the same rate, $1.05 per $100 of assessed valuation.

The council approved pay increases averaging approximately seven-and-a-half per cent for all city employees.

In addition, an incentive pay plan requested by police and fire department personnel was also approved.

AGENTS QUALIFY

Two local agents have qualified as members of the 1969 Star Club of New York Life Insurance Company. They are Charles A. Case, 37 Montrose Avenue, Daly City, and Russell L. Casey, 206 Woolsey Street, San Francisco.

Meter Survey For Mission

Members of the Mission Merchants Association voted Thursday to conduct a survey along some three blocks of Mission Street in Daly City regarding installation of parking meters.

The move came in spite of the fact that the City Council had earlier approved such a measure in a split vote—with Councilman Edward J. Dennis casting the lone "no" vote.

Dennis has contended during several talks on the parking meter matter, that businessmen in the 6800-6900 blocks of Mission Street do not need or want the devices.

During the Merchants' meeting at the First Cabin Restaurant Thursday, Vince Merlo wanted it clearly understood "we are not trying to push these meters down anyone's throat."

Merchants' Association president Tom Stanghalini said his observations revealed that Mission Street merchants involved in the meter controversy are split in their views on the subject, thus the survey.

Stanghalini designed a survey sheet which will indicate whether an individual property owner or renter wants the meters installed in front of his establishment.

Except for the blocks in question, the entire length of Mission Street in Daly City has parking meters installed.

Many businessmen along the shopping street feel that they are being discriminated against because they must endure the meters, while other businessmen do not.

Stranghalini said that when his association approached the city during talks on the problems of parking along the street, he was under the impression the association spoke for everyone.

However, only recently he became aware that some landowners and businesses oppose the meters.

In an earlier meeting with the Daly City Council on the subject, it was pointed out that many of those opposed seldom attend association meetings and had waited until the last minute to lodge protests against them.

Talks on the problems of parking on the thoroughfare have been going on between association representatives and the city for the past four years. One councilman, Frank Facelli, said he had personally been involved with the project for "at least six years."

Monorail Proposal Given To Supervisors in S.F.

The San Francisco Board of Supervisors has before it today a feasibility study recommending a 14.3-mile monorail system to connect the city with San Francisco International Airport.

An organization calling itself the San Francisco City and County Aerial Transport System filed the report Wednesday and said it intends to carry none but air travelers, if given approval by the supervisors.

"It's not really a traditional monorail concept, and therefore, won't be an eyesore," said A. W. Gato, president of the system.

Plans indicated the cost would be $85 million which the system intends to finance through a nonprofit corporation, issuing bonds. "With the city in on it, we'd expect the bonds to be tax exempt," Gato said.

A one-way fare would be $2 and the system could be built in two years, its advocates declared.

In explaining the difference from traditional monorails, Gato said that instead of the one-wheel concept, his group proposes a truck for each coach of eight tires, "encased in a box and running on a track" from which the coaches would be suspended.

That proposal would call for extending the 75-mile BART system from Daly City to the airport which is in San Mateo County.

'Post Office Needs Business Methods'

By BOB PETERSON

Something is going to happen in the post office business. Just what, no one is sure.

So said R. E. James, regional director of the San Francisco postal service, which includes the West Coast, Hawaii and Alaska.

James, addressing members of the South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce yesterday noon, was speaking on the proposal before the U.S. Congress to make the U.S. Postal system a government-owned corporation that would operate like a business. Business, incidentally, originates 74 per cent of all the mail moving through the system.

"The postal system needs application of business techniques and technology," said James. "Technology of the post office simply has not kept pace. Many regional directors, like myself, are business and industry types. We see what business and industry has done over the past 100 years and feel the same methods should be applied to the post office."

It was in June of 1968 when then President Johnson set up a President's Commission on Postal Organization called the Kappel Report, because it was headed by retired AT&T Chairman Frederick Kappel. It said: "The United States Post Office faces a crisis. Each year it slips further behind the rest of the economy in service, in efficiency and in meeting its responsibilities as an employer."

"Each year it operates at a huge financial loss. No one realizes the magnitude of this crisis more than the postal managers and employees who daily bear the staggering burden of moving the nation's mail."

The Post Office handles 8 billion pieces of mail a year with 750,000 workers. By 1980, the flow will be more than 110 billion pieces a year, and 1,016,000 workers, following the present trend. Volume went up six per cent in James' region this summer alone.

"Considering the methods they're using and the increasing volume of mail, the post office people are doing a marvelous job," said James. "The people in the post offices don't have the mechanization they should have, and now there's a freeze on the number of new hires in an effort to bring about economic efficiency."

In May President Nixon submitted the postal overhaul plan to Congress that would create a new United States Postal Service, meaning the Postmaster would leave the cabinet.

The new service would be a corporation with a nine-member board of directors. Wholly government owned, it would be similar to the Tennessee Valley Authority in corporation operation.

Advantage of the new system mainly would be the freedom to act more efficiently.

Guadalupe Crackdown On Speeding

The California Highway Patrol is planning a crackdown on speeders along the Guadalupe Expressway on San Bruno Mountain, County Engineer Don S. Wilson reported to supervisors August 26, after a letter was received from the Hillside Homeowners' Association complaining of traffic conditions in front of the John F. Kennedy School in Colma.

Wilson reported that traffic surveys showed that the number of cars going past the school have increased from 2,835 in 1967 to 3,600 this year.

He said he saw no need for additional traffic signs other than the already posted "school zone" signs and said that a 25-mile-per-hour speed limit has been placed on the expressway.

Wall Falls At Center

Several workmen narrowly escaped injury August 26 when a wall collapsed at the W. T. Grant store in Pacific's Linda Mar Shopping Center, firemen reported.

Authorities said the 374-foot long section of 12 foot wooden panel wall fell about 9:30 a.m. from the second story of a new addition now under construction at the store.

The wall shorted out a 240-volt service line, firemen said, touching off several small fires in the building.

A number of workmen were standing by when the wall fell, according to fire department spokesmen, but all escaped injury.

Rev. Bryant Quits Post At Center

Rev. Howard Bryant, executive director of the Daly City Information and Referral Center, verbally handed in his resignation at a recent meeting of the center's board of directors, it was learned today.

Bryant is expected to follow up his verbal resignation with a written statement sometime next week.

What the longtime head of the center will do after he finally steps down has not been announced, but speculation is he will accept a government position that closely resembles the post he is vacating.

Bryant has spearheaded several major programs since he took over the center some three years ago, including the summer work program for needy youth, well baby clinics and aiding hundreds of local residents in finding jobs or where to apply for medical care.

He became a well-known figure in the North County since taking over the center due, primarily, to his almost constant campaign for the causes of the area's underprivileged.

In addition to the executive directorship, the center is now accepting applications for two other posts — community aide and county-wide community organizer.

Requirements for the position of executive director are at least two years of college (for which experience may be substituted on a year-for-year basis), the ability to coordinate the center's programs in a multi-cultural community and to make periodic reports to various boards and community groups connected with the center.

The part-time community aide will be trained to work with and assist the community specialist and the community organizer in their activities, according to job description on the position.

Applications may be made by contacting the center before September 10.

Two Held for Drugs

Two young men, one a juvenile, have been arrested by San Bruno police on charges of possession of dangerous drugs and possession of dangerous drugs for sale.

Police said David James Mazzoli, 22, of 618 Bonita Avenue, Millbrae, is scheduled to be arraigned on charges Friday at Northern Judicial Court in South San Francisco. The 17-year-old juvenile was released to the custody of his parents, and will later be referred to juvenile authorities.

Officer Edwin Mueller responded to a call on unwanted customers at a restaurant at 875 El Camino Real, at 4:30 a.m. today.

He observed the two men sitting in a booth. One, identified as the juvenile, appeared to be sleeping. Both, according to Officer Mueller, appeared to be incoherent. When Officer Mueller approached the suspects, Mazzoli attempted to awaken his companion, and was overheard saying, "Wake up, here comes the man."

A vial, held by Mazzoli, contained what appeared to be red capsules and white tablets. The suspect told police the contents were prescription.

The suspects were asked to go outside the restaurant, where the juvenile attempted to hide a red capsule. More were found in his pocket. Officer Frank Young assisted Officer Mueller in making the arrest.

San Brunan Shoots Self

A San Bruno man in critical condition today with a .22-caliber bullet in his head after attempting to take his life Monday in his backyard, police say.

Police said William Crawford,

42, of 520 Linden Avenue, had borrowed the pistol from a friend to use to go hunting. As he and the friend stood talking, the victim put the gun to his head and pulled the trigger. He is in the intensive care unit of Peninsula Hospital.

Smoke Slows D.C. Traffic

Thick smoke slowed traffic on Skyline Freeway, south of Alameda Boulevard in Daly City Wednesday after fire of undetermined cause started in an open field west of Skyline.

The 3 p.m. fire did no damage, though the smoke drifted over the Westlake Shopping Center and hung there for some time.

Daly City firemen said the fire started in a mixture of hay and low-growing shrubbery in a field north of the Palisades housing area of Daly City and south of the Thornton State Beach entry road.

Police and State Division of Highways personnel helped control southbound traffic on the freeway, as visibility was reduced by the smoke.

Role Change In 'Portrait' Production

Because of unforeseen business commitments, Bill Crain of Daly City, originally cast in the part of Cob O'Brien in the Pacifica Spindrift Players' fall production of "Portrait in Black," has resigned from his role.

Taking over in this part in the play, by Ivan Goff and Ben Roberts, will be Kyne Catton well known to coasts audience having played many roles, the latest of which was "Chuckles Chipmunk" in "A Thousand Clowns."

O'Brien is the part of the family chauffeur, the comic relief, who is also a definite suspect in the plot of murder, blackmail and suspense.

Continuing what the Spindrift Players feel is the best bargain for the price (five for the price of four), tickets for the 1969-70 season of five plays is in process through September 15.

The price includes four local productions and one professional show by ACT, the American Conservatory Theatre... for the price of four local plays.

Slated to be produced by the players is an all Samuel French season. Starting with "Portrait in Black" the holidays at Christmas will see a fantasy entitled "Barnaby," based on the comic strip of a number of years ago.

The third offering is to be Edward Albee's morality play, "A Delicate Balance," and Neil Simon's hilarious comedy hit, "The Odd Couple," will end the local season in May.

The fifth production, a bonus, free to season ticket subscribers only, will be the ACT production.

Prices are $8, $5 and $3 for adults, high school students, and elementary school students, respectively.

(Editor's Note: Today's profile of Jasmin Flores is the last in the series of articles honoring the graduates of the Jefferson Union High School District's class of 1969. Next week Datebook will deal with the social activities on the fall calendar. If you, or your group, will be beginning an autumn program of events please plan to have your items for Datebook in by Friday noon. TIMES OBVIOUSLY CHANGE, and so do the needs of young people, thus each has to keep up with the other (people and time, I mean). There is a need for an educational revolution (I mean a revolution in the educational system). I realize revolutions take a long, long time, but if it is never begun, it will never come to an end.

"The educational system should be looked at carefully, little by little, starting from the student's courses to his grades; (should there still be grades, or merely pass or fail?) etc.

"I think that my generation is, by far, the most open minded (among other things), and we refuse to accept without questioning first." The comments are those of Jasmin Flores, one of the outstanding girls in last semester's senior class at Jefferson High School.

An intensely alive and active girl, Jasmin loves to watch football, enjoys playing the piano and listening to records. She gets a large measure of pleasure from writing in her personal journal or from reading novels.

She admits to enjoying skiing though she feels her skill is limited, and badminton and tennis provide her with her favorite forms of exercise while sewing relaxes her. This fall Jasmin, and her enthusiastic nature will become a part of the larger college scene at the University of California campus at Davis where she will begin the long course of study which will enable her to become a pediatrician.

While she feels a little young to be absolutely sure of many of the answers that students seem to be seeking she knows that an inquiring mind is her best asset.

"THE TURMOIL ON CAMPUS will affect me in that it will make me question my wants and desires; is so and so worth it all; it will make me question my real meaning in life when I begin to really reach it out. I haven't really yet started for I feel I am too young to know many of the important things to be able to say 'This is living—I've found my meaning in Life!' I may, perhaps, find answers to my questions about life once I am in college, or maybe, not even then. But at least I can begin to look for answers in college through the campus unrest, which, of course, cannot be ignored," she exclaimed.

The causes for the new era of questioning and outreach by youth are complex but Jasmin feels that much of the agony of young people is caused by the state of confusion in the world.

"We are trying to find ourselves in an atmosphere of confusion, in a world plagued by misty wars.

"Sure other generations had to worry about growing up, but without the worry of when the atomic bomb will explode or the problem of population explosion. I worry about whether or not the war will get my friends through the draft and shall I never see them again? The poor parents raise their sons for 18 or 20 years for a war whose purpose is mistily established.

"I worry about whether or not I should add to the problem of the population explosion by bringing children into the world, where schools and housing will eventually be more overcrowded than ever.

"I WORRY ABOUT my future, among many other things, will there be a future? I certainly hope so. I think life has more ups than downs although the downs seem (only seem) to last longer," she said.

What does Jasmin feel that the future holds for her? She isn't certain but she knows that as a rational being it is her responsibility to be as good and complete a human being as she is capable of being.

"I feel that I will be a person, not a machine, who will do as it is told.

"I feel that by being an individual and acting as one, people can progress better as people and not as products of society. (I realize the difficulty in acting away from society because we were born in it, but we could at least try! There is never any harm in trying!)

"I do not guarantee success for myself as a person because I am but one. But perhaps if more and more people acted as they felt, society would eventually change. I am not anti-social, for I do feel society has many good aspects, but there are also the bad aspects, ones to be changed. (i.e., attitudes toward any type of intermarriage, interracial, interfaith or interethnic.)"

Jasmin was born in the Philippine Islands 17 years ago and has lived in the islands, in Japan and in San Diego prior to coming to Daly City.

WHILE AT JEFFERSON she was elected school mascot, she was the sophomore class president and a member of the ski club, a three-year member of the California Scholarship Federation, she served one term as secretary-treasurer of the GAA, she was the 1968 senior home coming princess, the secretary of the student body, and a California Savings and Loan league scholarship winner as the outstanding senior at Jefferson.

The Soroptimist Club picked her as girl of the month this past November and the Bank of America awarded her a plaque as the outstanding senior in Liberal Arts. For two years she served on the school's Human Relations Committee.

Jasmin is the daughter of Mrs. Zenaida Flores of Vista Grande Avenue. She has one brother, Florito, 19, and a sister, Jennifer, who is 15.

Coastal Trip For Couple

Traveling down the California coast to Carmel, San Simeon and Los Angeles are Mr. and Mrs. Loren A. N. Buddress (Diana Lee Zahnd) who were married Sunday at the Community Methodist Church of San Bruno.

The Rev. Dr. William G. Dalton read the vows for the 3 p.m. double-ring ceremony which was followed by a buffet reception at Brentwood Lodge in South San Francisco.

Diana, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Zahnd of San Bruno, walked to the altar with her father. She wore an Empire gown of English net and Venice lace with a scoop neckline, long sleeves and a train. She added a fingertip silk illusion veil and carried white daisies, chrysanthemums, elegance and pale yellow streamers.

Lime green voile gowns with white velvet sashes were worn by the attendants who included Susan Zahnd as her sister's maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Denise Manno and Mrs. Leland Buddress, sister-in-law of the bride. They carried daisy chrysanthemums.

Rebecca Birge carried a basket of yellow and white daisy chrysanthemums as flower girl, and Steve Birge acted as ring bearer.

Leland Buddress was his brother's best man. Both are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Buddress of San Bruno. Guests were seated by Paul Regan and Pat Kinnard.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Zahnd chose a yellow and ivory brocade ensemble with ivory accessories. Mrs. Bud-dress wore an aqua silk and linen dress and jacket with satin braid and aqua shoes and bag. Both mothers pinned on gold cymbidiums.

Among the wedding guests were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Higley of Duluth, Minn., grandparents of the bride; Mrs. Warren Strom, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Coggan, all of Glendale, grand aunts and uncle of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Berg of Seattle, uncle and aunt of the bride.

The couple will make their home in San Jose where the bridegroom will be a graduate student at the state college. The couple both attended Capuchino High School and the College of San Mateo.

Diana has a brother, Christopher Zahnd, who acted as candlelighter.

Candlelight Rites For Miss Skinner

The First Baptist Church of San Bruno was the setting Saturday noon for the marriage of Patricia Joan Skinner and Robert Charles Cermak of San Mateo. The Rev. L. Ronald Brushwyler officiated at the candlelight ceremony which was followed by a reception at the home of Mrs. Adeline Stanton who was the matron of honor.

The bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Charles Cermak, came from Omaha for the wedding and will honor the couple at a reception in Omaha when they return from their wedding trip to Southern California.

The bride wore a powder blue linen Empire gown with three-quarter sleeves ending with white lace over a self ruffle. A circlet of lilies of the valley caught her tiered powder blue veil and she carried a bouquet of white daisies.

Mrs. Stanton wore a long A-line mint green gown with white lace detailing. A band of matching lace held her mint green veil and she carried white and yellow daisy chrysanthemums. Kim Skinner, daughter of the honor attendant, was the flower girl. She was frocked in yellow lace and carried a basket of white and yellow daisies.

Mrs. Cermak wore a short floral silk print to which she pinned white cymbidiums. She was escorted down the aisle by Mark and Brett Skinner, sons of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Murphy came from their home in Canoga Park for the wedding, and he served as best man.

For traveling the new Mrs. Cermak changed to a white dress under a pink and white check coat.

Grandparents of the bride-to-be, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred A. Gabb of Sebastopol, were also married here. The couple plans to be married by the Rev. James J. SSF Girls Help CARE

As a result of the efforts of three South San Francisco girls, to CARE, the girls requested $75.76 was contributed today to CARE, the international relief and development agency. Friends, relatives, and neighbors of Louise and Laura Aboudara, 2217 Kenry Way, and Karen Scocca, 2234 Kenry Way, were sent personal, handmade invitations to an arts and craft show held at the Aboudara home. All objects on sale at the show — yarn cloths, paintings, tissue paper flowers, beaded rings, mobiles, stationery — were made by the one ten-year-old and two 13-year-old girls. In making their contribution to CARE, the girls requested that the money be channeled into CARE's Nigerian Relief Fund for use in aiding the people of Biafra. CARE is a nonprofit, private agency for voluntary assistance to needy people in other lands. The agency does a three-fold job: it distributed food and other essentials for immediate relief; it provides the tools of education and self-support in order that the people can learn to help themselves; and it sends MEDICCO doctors and nurses who practice and teach modern medicine.

Players Plan An Expansion Of Offering

The executive board of the Pacifica Spindrift Players voted to expand its offering in the 1969-70 season to include four one-act plays. President of the community theater organization, Gil West, stated that the plan is to offer these in the spring, two each weekend. Directors for these one-act plays have yet to be picked and West is asking that all persons interested in directing, to please submit their names along with the plays they would like to direct to him. The executive board will then select the directors and the plays to be produced. West can be contacted at 359-0820. The purpose of this activity, in addition to bringing more to theatre audiences, is to bring new directors to the "boards" of the theatre. Although not a part of the regular season of the Pacifica Spindrift Players, admission is to be nominal so as to give more people the chance to participate and attend.

Serra Schedules With Computer

Serra High School has caught up with the times in programming this year. This school year will begin the process of computer scheduling. Because of the new process, a complete program of electives are being offered in the Religion, Social Science and English departments.

The Religion Department has broken with the traditional "Catechism" type of religious instruction and is offering broader minded courses. The goal being that religion is something that is lived out, not just factual history.

Some of the many new courses are: Comparative Religions, a study of the other major religions; Great Men, a study of history's great philosophers and their contributions to the world of religion; Contemporary Morals, a course discussing the changing morals in our society; Teen Problems, a course discussing the problems between parents and teen-agers.

The social Science Department has also broken the tradition of teaching U. S. History in the junior year and Sociology in the senior year. Rev. Daniel Walsh, Social Science Department head, working with Dr. W. M. McGlinley has come up with a program that will appeal to the tastes and interests of all the students.

The new program offers semester courses in such subjects as Black History, Civil War History, a history of America at war, an advanced placement course in U. S. History, a history of the American Economy and various social courses. As required by the law each student must take a year of U. S. History to graduate.

Greater flexibility has been very helpful to the English Department in planning new courses. Students may select courses in grammar, composition, and literature.

Courses are being offered in contemporary and old American literature, designed to demonstrate the talent of our American authors, both old and new. A course in grammar is being offered for those students who would like to perfect the mechanics of the language.

A special course is being offered Film Appreciation, designed at showing the value in modern movies.

All of the new courses will use

Burglars Take It All

Burglars in South San Francisco didn't mess around, they not only took the cash but the cash register too.

Antonio Carvilli arrived at his business at 155 Terminal Court about 1 p.m. yesterday to find his cash register, and about $800 contained, missing.

Action On Garbage Problems?

"What are you going to say?"

This was the question posed to the mayors of the county on Friday by Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan, who predicted that within two or three years garbage disposal will become one of the most critical problems faced by citizens, who will be appealing to local officials for an answer.

"We are running out of places to put this stuff," Ryan told the San Mateo County Council of Mayors meeting in Daly City.

"As councilmen and mayors you must take care of this problem before it becomes a problem," the state legislator asserted. "Teach yourselves. Prepare yourselves," he urged, even at the expense of going to such cities as Montreal, Canada, or Frankfurt, Germany, which, he said, have revolutionary disposal solutions.

Pointing to the exploding problem of solid waste disposal, Ryan urged the mayors "to get with it before this problem becomes too smelly. Take an active part. Cities, themselves, should find the answers."

Councilman Francis P. Pacelli of Daly City, suggested that manufacturers of disposable containers, just as auto makers have recognized their responsibility to cut down smog, should face up to the disposal problem.

"Why can't we as legislators on every level face up to the fact that this now is an insurmountable problem?" Pacelli asked, suggesting that governments turn to the manufacturers of disposable containers.

"Packaged items... create the real problem," Pacelli asserted. He also noted the problem of detergents is creating "greaseballs" in sewage systems.

Ryan said he thought part of the detergent problem is being solved by "enzyme" detergents which dissolve in water.

Ryan said that neither state nor federal legislators can do enough unless there is pressure from the city councils at the local level.

Ryan noted that the Council of Mayors represented a larger constituency than several states, and told the mayors: "Tell them what you want. This group has the capacity. Suggest areas in which to move to find the answers!"

Mayors Told Of Legislative Record

Assemblyman Leo Ryan, discussing the results of the recent legislative session with the Council of Mayors of San Mateo County might well have titled his talk, "Wait until next year."

Although he spoke of the successes of the past session, Ryan also predicted passage of significant legislation in the near future at the Daly City meeting Friday night.

"The most significant of the killed bills was that relating to the banning of the internal combustion engine in the state by 1975," said Ryan.

"This bill got out of committee and passed the senate with four negative votes. When it got into the assembly, Detroit sent people of Sacramento. The measure died before a vote could be taken. But I was thunderstruck," said Ryan, "after listening to physicists, environmental engineers, and other specialists I'd never heard of tell of the effect the internal combustion engine has had on the way we live."

"We recognize the problem is most serious," he said, "and expect Detroit to do far more than they have been doing to solve the problem. I assure you, a significant impetus is being given to this particular problem."

Another problem in our society being studied strongly by the state legislators is alcoholism. According to Ryan, a bill that will give cities the lead in treating alcoholism has a fairly good chance of passing next year.

"It is being looked upon as a civil problem," said Ryan, "and not as a police function. It is an emotional problem that does not belong in the police department."

Ryan cited the San Francisco Police Department as an example, saying that some 30 per cent of their cases have to do with alcoholics. He said he felt the only question before the two houses of legislature concerning this problem would be that of financial limits.

There has to be some item that will not make it, at least soon. And what could that be but taxes. Although he admits it is the single most important issue the legislature works on, Ryan said "I don't think we'll do anything next year on tax reform." There seem to be plenty of tax reform bills, but not enough votes to get any of them out of committee. In any year, tax reform is going to be difficult," said Ryan.

Of interest to Peninsula residents, at least those living near the airport, are two bills now in Gov. Ronald Reagan's desk, having to do with conservation and pollution. They are AB 888, which requires the reduction of jet smoke by 1971 and AB 645, which sets noise standards that must be complied with by 1971.

Ryan did not have available figures on what the decibel count would be.

Skyline College Minorities Program To Be Headed By Ex-School Dropout

The San Mateo Junior College District board of trustees and Skyline College's administration and faculty have made a staunch commitment to bring the Bay Area's newest community college into the lives of the minority groups of North San Mateo County, a spokesman reports.

Skyline's president Philip C. Garlington in appointing Mel Carrillo to head the college's minority groups program "has insured an initial and vital link to this promise."

Tied together with the hiring of Carrillo is the development of courses in Black history, Inter-American history, History of the Americas, and Special Studies in History, as well as the employment of qualified faculty and staff personnel from the various ethnic and racial groups.

Carrillo brings to the college an extensive background as an active community participant and leader in education.

The 42-year-old educator and former head of Hillsdale High School's foreign language department declared:

"We welcome all students and especially the ethnic minorities to the college student body. All of us must be aware of the needs and problems of these citizens both in school and in the community, and I extend an invitation to these young men and women to discuss with them their concerns or ideas which may lead to a more positive outcome in educational and social achievement for them and their friends. Such discussions could be very helpful in the formulation of the future minority program at Skyline College."

Carrillo is no newcomer to working with community groups. His background in the development and understanding of the needs of minority groups dates back to his arrival in the Bay Area in 1950. Prior to that time he lived and attended schools in Los Angeles, Compton, and Fresno. His Bay Area community activities and experiences include: Adult and Youth Counselor—San Francisco Neighborhood Centers and Juvenile Halls (Oakland); Civil Defense warden; Member of Steering Committee, San Mateo City Conference; Member of Mexican-American Unity Council; Vice Chairman of Mexican Political Association, San Mateo County; Candidate for Belmont School Board Trustee Election, 1968; Chairman Housing Subcommittee of County Committee for Community Development.

His educational and teaching backgrounds also can aid the minority groups students from North San Mateo County, a spokesman says. Carrillo received his BA degree from University of California (Berkeley) in political science and social studies program, and his MA degree in education from San Francisco State.

It was from the latter institution that Carrillo earned his secondary schools' teaching and counseling credentials. He has taught in San Francisco and Whittier before coming to Hillsdale High where he was a teacher of Spanish and later the foreign language department head.

"Education is vitally important now as society moves toward a more technical age. It is crucial that many Skyline, universal college education may well be on the horizon," Carrillo emphasized. His affiliations with professional education groups include: Treasurer, HHS; Hillsdale Committee member in District

Study of Selected Underachievement of minority groups is "his understanding of their employment needs as noted in his part-time and full-time positions."

At the age of 14 Carrillo had to drop out of school due to family needs and financial problems. In the ensuing years he held a number of jobs while securing his high school and college diplomas and degrees. They include: Migratory farm worker, process server, truck driver, waiter, bellhop, elevator operator, auto-magazines salesman, hospital orderly, gardener, laundrette operator, service station operator, farm laborer, newspaper distributor, inventory clerk, postman, and similar clerical positions.

The future for Skyline College's minority groups program will center around "an understanding, capable, and dedicated individual in Mel Carrillo," a spokesman says. However, he emphatically emphasizes that "he wants and needs the active involvement and participation of the students, faculty, and staff and the community."

Carrillo and his wife, Mary, who reside in Belmont, have four children: Linda, 15; Mark, 13; Don, and Ramona, 5.

Misunderstanding HRC Problem, Daly City-Colma Kiwanis Told

One of the biggest problems facing the County Human Relations Commission today is the acute lack of communications with the public, HRC chairman Frank Spadarella told a luncheon meeting of the Daly City-Colma Kiwanis August 26.

"Even the professionals sometimes misunderstand what we're trying to say," Spadarella explained.

He cited as an example a recent article which appeared in local newspapers regarding alleged bias among apartment house owners and managers in renting housing to minorities, especially blacks.

"I never said half the things that were attributed to me. I was simply relaying a subcommittee recommendation that was handed in to me," Spadarella said.

But the complicated routing, coupled with the "careful manner in which we must handle these situations," apparently caused a misunderstanding among the public and some newsmen attending the recent meeting.

In order to "set the matter straight" Spadarella made an all-out effort to further explain what had actually transpired at the HRC meeting.

He said there are various committees within the HRC, including a committee on communications — established primarily to deal with community residents and to act as a public relations link with the press.

Spadarella denied one report which said he proposed legislation be enacted to place apartment owners under fair rent restrictions similar to the fair employment practices which cover business and industry.

"There already is such a law," Spadarella said. "The suggestion actually was made by a young woman who serves on one of the commission's advisory groups."

According to Spadarella the recommendation read: "In order to discourage apartment

"I reported to the young woman that such a suggestion, and I want to emphasize it was only a suggestion, should first be approved by the HRC and then turned over to the Board of Supervisors," he pointed out.

He further denied that he advocated, as reported, apartments rent to a specific percentage of minority race members.

"As a matter of fact, I do not advocate such a practice," he said.

There are currently some 5,000 apartment units in Daly City with less than 2 per cent vacant at any given time. Many of these apartments have long waiting lists—up to six months, The Times was informed.

Spadarella emphasized during his speech that "no specific complaints against any apartment house owner or manager in Daly City has ever been formally filed" with the HRC.

"Until we received such a complaint there will be no action take by the commission," he said.

Cancel Jeff Elementary Meet on 9th

The next regular meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Jefferson Elementary School District will be held September 23.

Board members last night voted to cancel the September 9 regular meeting because it will fall on Admission Day, a legal holiday.

Supt. Frank Greenwood informed the board members that if necessary a special meeting could be called at another date. Board members apparently felt they could handle whatever items scheduled for the September 9 meeting at their September 23 session.

In other business, the board members:

Approved payment of $38,422.00 in purchase orders, and $49,737.81 in warrants.

Accepted with regret the resignation of five teachers: Mrs. Alice Ahmed, seventh grade teacher at Fernando Rivera; Marvin Dun, third grade teacher at Thomas Edison School; Miss Laurie Robinson; Miss Jane Stembbridge, Daniel Webster School; and Mrs. Una Stubbs, on sabbatical leave.

Hired seven replacement teachers and 17 substitute teachers.

Held over action on salary change for the superintendent and two assistant superintendents.

Okayed the hiring of Mrs. Katherine Moore as an account clerk, effective August 18.

Course Set In Freight Management

An introductory course in freight traffic management and freight rates is being offered at South San Francisco Adult School beginning September 8.

Classes are scheduled for each Monday from 7 p.m. to 9:45 p.m.

According to school officials, the students will learn how to obtain substantial freight savings and receive a better understanding of transportation.

The fall semester session will cover California intra-state freight rates, using rate memorandum sheets. Students will study motor classification rules and regulations, using the National Motor Freight Classification applied with some practical freight rate problems.

During the Spring semester, principles of freight traffic management will be taught. There also will be a general study of class and commodity freight tariffs, emphasizing the major rules and regulations with freight rate problem applications.

Further information may be obtained by calling the South San Francisco Adult School.

Kiwanis Club To See Film

The Kiwanis Club of San Bruno-Millbrae will meet September 3, and will have as guest speaker, Bob Bush, who will show a film entitled "A Collector's Item" by International Harvester Company.

It shows how Los Angeles disposes of its garbage, and brings up the question, should we copy Los Angeles in any way? This is the last month to meet membership dues.

Seniors Plan A Rummage

The Senior Citizens' Club of South San Francisco is holding another rummage sale on September 4 and 5, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in their lounge at the Magnolia Recreation Center, Grand and Magnolia Avenues.

Minister's Class Is Being Resumed

Pastor A. David Donnelly will resume the pastor's class for adults and youth Sunday at 9:45 a.m. at Westside Baptist Church, Pacifica.

This is a five-lesson course in what the church teaches; requirements for membership; a brief history of the Baptist General Conference and the church. "The Fighting Saint" is the sermon topic chosen by Pastor Donnelly for the September 7, 11 o'clock morning worship hour service.

Special music for this service will be a vocal solo by Alton Swedberg. The ordinance of the Lord's Supper will be observed, and Pastor Donnelly will extend the right hand of church fellowship to Victor Lapoquette and Adam McLean of Pacifica, and Mark Donnelly of San Bruno.

During the adult service, primary church is conducted for boys and girls four through seven years of age, and is directed by Mrs. Jean Hernandez, assisted by Mrs. Rosa Donnelly. A nursery is also maintained during this hour.

Daly City Man Held For Murder

A Daly City man was arrested at his Hillside home Thursday morning on a charge of murder, following the fatal shooting of a San Francisco man Wednesday night in a Bayview District parking lot.

Police said J. V. James, a salesman residing at 727 Hillside Boulevard, was arrested with the aid of San Francisco police shortly after 3:30 a.m.

The suspect was charged with the parking lot slaying of Daniel Gutierrez, 26, of 28 Boardman Place, during a heated argument over a traffic incident in which both men insisted they had the right-of-way over the other.

Police said Gutierrez and his brother-in-law, Manuel Urrutia, 24, of 115 Sage Street, San Francisco, were driving into a parking lot on San Bruno Avenue shortly after 10 p.m. when another car blocked their way.

During the ensuing argument, James allegedly shot through the other vehicle's windshield, hitting Gutierrez in the chest.

Bruno Home Ransacked

A burglar ransacked the master bedroom of the Phil E. Obershaw residence on Coronado Way in San Bruno, apparently on August 20, the victim reported to police August 26.

Value of the loss, police said, was placed at $700 and the items removed from the bedroom included 80 silver dollars, $98 in miscellaneous coins, an automatic .25-caliber pistol, two watches, two rings, a portable radio, credit cards and a special police badge.

The victim told authorities that August 20 was the only time that someone has not been at home. His wife was at City Park for a period of time on that date, he said.

School Jobs Approved

Two Jefferson Elementary School District school ground areas will undergo repair with the blessing of the members of the school board.

Board members okayed the installation of a subdrain at the Vista Mar School, and a stairway and walkway at Vista Grande School.

The area at Vista Mar, because of water drainage, has been causing erosion of top soil. The subdrain would prevent this.

The problem at Vista Grande also is erosion. "The next rainy season, it'll fall apart," said Roger Barthol, assistant superintendent. "The stairway and walkway, therefore is necessary."

Courses In Semantics Are Offered

Courses in Semantics: How To Communicate More Effectively will be offered at Westmoor Adult High in Daly City on Monday nights and at South San Francisco Adult High on Wednesday nights.

The Westmoor class starts Sept. 15 at 7 p.m., and the South San Francisco class Sept. 10 at 7 p.m.

Both will deal with everyday communication skills such as listening, realizing assumptions, and awareness of problems of words and language. They use demonstrations, exercises and discussion to help students become more aware of language problems and ways of dealing with them.

The instructor is Robert Wanderer, former president of the San Francisco Chapter of the International Society for General Semantics.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON

Grand Opening Party For Villa Hotel's The Lounge

"The Lounge at the Villa Hotel" is how it will be known — and that is the only thing that is not changed. Steve Norton is having the time of his life with the new advertising campaign and the unique theme will soon be appearing on Bright Lights pages. "We really want everyone to enjoy the grand opening party bash," says Norton. "The house is hosting a huge event to kick off the complete turn-around you will see at 'the Lounge at the Villa Hotel' . . . A. Sabella's corner on Fisherman's Wharf, San Francisco, resembles a 'little bit of New York.' There are many types of business on the street side, three tiers of thriving restaurant business is top side. Lucien and his mother, Angelina, own and operate this 'bonanza' . . . Today is last call for a 'cup of coffee on the house' at Hillsdale's Foster's Coffee Shop. Clip out the coupon appearing in Foster's advertisement on Bright Lights, present it to your waitress, and sip your 'java.' Good Monday through Fridays only . . . Phone Baron's on Powell Street in San Francisco to reserve a seat at the organ bar because there's 'no vacancy' once organist Margie Brandon begins to play and sing. Margie packs 'em in each night. Nobody goes home until she does."

BANQUET SPECIALIST — Attractive Sophia Chung, hostess at the Inn of the Sixth Happiness, will be pleased to plan your banquet, featuring Shanghi cuisine. Located in San Mateo adjacent to Hillsdale Shopping Center, this extraordinary Chinese restaurant is owned and operated by the Chung family.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tomel of Sebastopol hosted a dinner-party at Frank Torres Montara Beach Hotel-restaurant, celebrating the eightieth birthday of Paul Picchi, the oldest living member of a widespread family residing in the Bay Area. Among those in attendance were Mr. Picchi's wife, Filomena, Mrs. Adelaide Nunes and Mrs. Joseph Nunes. A native of Lucca, Italy, Mr. Picchi makes his home in Half Moon Bay, where he delights in tending his vegetable garden, sharing with his friends . . . Connoisseur wines, both the finest imported and the most delicate domestic, are served in chilled glasses to add to your dining pleasure at Dar-Danys in Menlo Park. Hosts Peter Podany and John Darrimon are looking forward to serving you soon . . . The operatic singers, who perform at the Bocce Ball in the heart of San Francisco's North Beach, come from all over the country, and represent the very finest in professional and amateur talent. The club is open seven nights a week from 8:45 p.m. . . . Many out-of-towners who flock to San Francisco to escape the summer heat appreciate the air-conditioned comfort at Phil Lehr's Steakery. The steakery is one of only a few top S.F. restaurants fully air-conditioned from lounge to banquet rooms.

Bruno Fava, energetic host-owner of Bruno's in downtown San Mateo, rises at an early hour every day in order to prepare all his special Italian sauces for such daily menu suggestions as Chicken Cacciatore with Potatoes and Veal Scaloppini a la Marsala. Bruno's luncheon crowds begin to gather at 11:30 a.m., Monday through Saturday, which means the daily luncheon features must also be in readiness . . . Hal's Whistle Stop in Belmont is built on the historic site of the old Belmont Train Station. Mr. Halston, wealthy land owner, used to race his horse and buggy against the 5:15 from San Francisco to Belmont Depot in the days before the turn of the century. Hal's Whistle Stop continues the tradition of racing the 5:15 by racing to fill the orders of Buffalo Burgers ordered by the San Francisco commuters . . . For a 'stake' to a dinner that's not priced up with the jets, visit the Lamp Post Steak House on El Camino Real. New York steaks and spareribs tab out for just $1.59. Also choose from many of their side dishes — from dessert to beverages — for only a few cents more.

Tony Martinez, a familiar figure to San Francisco nightclub goers (he was the singing star and emcee for a long run — on several occasions — at Luz Garcia's Sinaloa), is one of the top stars of the award-winning hit musical play, "Man of La Mancha," which opened to rave reviews at the Curran Theater. Tony will be dining at the Sinaloa, the colorful dinner-dancing-floorshow club, often while here . . . The most exclusive club in the world, heart transplant patients, will dine at Rudolfo's Steakhouse in Palo Alto tomorrow at 8 p.m. Led by Robert O. McKee, the oldest living transplant from Stanford Hospital, they will spend a social evening enjoying the fine food served by the Alfinito brothers, and toast each other's good health. . . . One of the most dynamic husband and wife teams in the restaurant field is Lew and Edith Lehr. They have combined their considerable talents to build one of the most successful restaurant operations in the Bay Area.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON

Hillsdale Shopping Center Historic Site

The Old-Timers in San Mateo County will tell you that in the early 1940's, when Hillsdale Shopping Center was still a Bohannon dream, the farmers from all around the Bay Area used to park their trucks and set up stands in a huge lot just off Thirty-first Avenue, where they would sell farm-fresh melons, corn, or you could even buy a local corn-fed pig. The area earned the reputation and name "Farmers Market." During the construction of Hillsdale Shopping center, the property used by the farmers gave way to progress. But Mr. Bohannon preserved the name and maintained a tradition by having a complete market and introducing the International Kitchens, with individual cuisine served from all over the world. That is how Hillsdale's Farmers Market came into being. . . . Every Friday night the skies over Belmont light up like a Fourth of July celebration as a fireworks spectacle, just one of the water-circus attractions of Marine World, marks the finale to a unique water ski show. It's exciting to watch — and guests residing in the new Marriott Inn, which is scheduled for a September 2 opening, will be able to observe the lavish cascade of sparks from most of the rooms or balconies.

Clyde King, manager of the San Francisco Giants, was among the guests at a recent dinner-party held at the Golden Pavilion restaurant in Los Altos. Unusual dishes, selected from "The Six Classic Chinese Cuisine," were described by Restaurant Manager Jack Young as they were served . . . Vince Licata and his wife are back on the local restaurant scene after spending the past few weeks visiting friends on the East Coast. "It's great in the East," said Vince, "but you can't beat the Peninsula and the Bay Area for food and climate . . . Richard Hawker, manager and head "rustler" of the Sizzler Steak House in the Hillsdale Farmers Market, "rustles up" the sizzling steak dinners and sandwiches that are causing a "stampede." Drop in on Monday during Family Day and order a Top Sirloin Steak for just $1.00 . . . If you're planning an outdoor party (no limit) write, phone or contact personally Bill Mills or Dave Rasmussen at The Shadows of San Mateo. Your culinary worries are over when letting this professional catering team arrange your menu . . . Unusual entertainment is featured at Jack Menzie and Chris Vlassis' Cathedral Espresso Cafe on Burlingame Avenue. Folk guitar and songs are enjoyed by patrons every Friday and Saturday evening.

Clyde King

Joe and Lou Ercoli of South City's Leaning Tower restaurant enjoy a football game played by the 49er's as well as anyone else. To prove it, they offer a special 49er's dinner every Sunday from 3:30 p.m. to 10 p.m., along with 20 other entrees . . . The name Smuggler's Inn sounds inviting without even looking at the menu. And after a quick glance at its offerings, there's double reason for visiting this luncheon and dinner house, which is located on Southland Drive in Hayward. There's plenty of free parking while feasting on servings of London Town Fish 'n Chips, Smuggler's Chicken, Voyager's New York Steak. All entrees served with a whole loaf of sour dough bread . . . The intimate cocktail lounge in Sebastian's of Belmont opens daily at 2 p.m.; the dining room opens at 5 p.m. An added feature is the singing guitar of Hank Falconer, known as the "Glen Campbell of Sebastian's" . . . "In days of old, when men were bold and ships were made of wood, a sailor used his hat for ale and wore it if he could." Skipper Duane Eckert of Cap'n's Cabin pours hardy brew, too. He tells a yarn or two, but the hat's no more and the jugs been replaced by a mug . . . Calling all bowlers: Kings Bowl in Millbrae is now forming their Winter leagues. So hustle on down and sign up. The adjoining Blue Peacock is where players congregate for refreshments and dancing.

Donald J. Devoto, general manager of the Hilton Inn, San Francisco International Airport, announces that the French Corner Restaurant and the Tiger Room will be closed Sunday and Monday during the Labor Day weekend. However, the Mark Twain Lounge and the Garden Room coffee shop will remain open . . . The curtain is about to go up on Nick Gust's new Pacifica restaurant venture — the Papagayo Room. Al Williams, who must have originated Mexican food, will meet and greet all who pass through the portals of this colorful Mexican cantina, located on the lower level of the structure which also houses Nick's fabulous Moonraker, and directly across the street from Nick's Restaurant and his Sea Breeze Motel. With a 2000-foot beach frontage, which is all lighted up at night, each restaurant offers a fantastic view of the rolling surf while dining. Remember when Williams was featured on the Copper Kitchen TV Show? Don't be surprised if he swings with it again . . . Adrian "Red" Stickney, who founded the Stickney Sports Foundation, awards a trophy to the Stanford Athlete of the Month. His Town and Country Village restaurant, in Palo Alto, exhibits pictures of many of the honored athletes. The long-time Stanford booster also makes awards to the City College of San Mateo and supports various Little Leagues on the Peninsula.

Lori Gradinger, left, of San Mateo is presented with a letter of appreciation from the Head Start Auxiliary by Mrs. Jerome Moskowitz, membership chairman. Lori heard of the desperate need for funds to start the Head Start Nursery school in the fall and went from door to door collecting contributions, also adding her own five dollars.

High Schools Offer Courses for Women

Courses of special interest to women will be scheduled in Burlingame, Capuchino, and Crestmoor High Schools when the Adult School fall semester opens the week of September 15.

Social Class In San Mateo

A ten-week class designed for social workers, volunteers in community agencies, clergymen and other in such fields as health and education will be offered by University of California Extension beginning September 25 at the Department of Public Health and Welfare, 225 Thirty-seventh Annual, San Mateo.

Titled "Dynamics of Social Functioning," the class is planned to provide an introductory study of psychological and social factors important to social work. It is intended for persons who have had no formal training in this field.

K. Morgan Yamanaka, assistant professor of social welfare at San Francisco State College, will teach the class, which will meet on Thursday afternoons from 4 to 6 p.m., September 25 through December 4 (except Thanksgiving Day). The enrollment fee is $40.

The class is part of a one-year study program leading to a University Extension certificate in the social services. Follow-up classes, scheduled for the winter and spring quarters, deal with methods of helping individuals and families and working with groups. Details of the class and the certificate program may be obtained by writing to Social Welfare, University of California Extension, 2225 Fulton Street, Berkeley 94720, or calling (415) 642-4158.

Elks Make Contributions

Howard Hartley, leading Knight of San Mateo Elks Lodge, announced the completion of the spring and summer phase of the organization's community and welfare activities.

Cash grants and pledges were made to 23 local charitable and civic projects, many of which are sponsored on a year-to-year basis.

Largest grants went to the scholarship program which helped 11 graduating seniors. The Chestmobile drive of the San Mateo Tuberculosis Association was assisted in their efforts to purchase new equipment.

Several Little League teams were again supported from these sources.

Boy Scout Troop No. 1112 has been sponsored by the lodge since the troop's inception.

Judge Hartley stated, "Our greatest interest is in the youth who are to be our future in America, we listen to their appeal with sympathetic ear."

Economic opportunity is provided through both business skill courses and instruction in clothing construction, according to Morris H. Winward, director of the adult program.

Registration is at the first scheduled meeting of a class on a first-come, first-served basis. Late registration is possible when space permits.

Classes scheduled one night a week meet for three hours (7-10) and those scheduled two nights for two hours each night (7-9): Burlingame High School: Clothing alterations, Monday, Mrs. Heath; beginning clothing, Wednesday, Mrs. Heath; brush-up shorthand (Gregg), Tuesday-Thursday, and business machines, Tuesday-Thursday.

Capuchino: Beginning clothing, Tuesday, Mrs. Helzner; beginning and intermediate typing, Tuesday; brush-up typing, Monday-Wednesday.

Crestmoor: Beginning clothing, Wednesday, Mrs. Labhart; beginning typing, Wednesday-Thursday.

A complete and detailed brochure of all fall classes may be obtained from the San Mateo Union High School District office at 840 North Delaware, San Mateo, or at all public libraries and branches.

Most classes in the diploma program, foreign languages and basic education are scheduled at Burlingame High School as a central location.

Boy Dies; Hit by Car

San Mateo County recorded its first traffic fatality of the Labor Day weekend Saturday night with the death of a young Redwood City boy whose bicycle was struck by a car near his home.

Highway Patrolman R. A. Blair reported that Randy Dean Troxell, 7, of 523 Stanford Avenue, was struck by a car when he rode his bicycle off a sidewalk in front of 545 Stanford at 7:25 p.m. into the path of an eastbound car driven by Ronald L. Howard, 20, of 127 Willow Street, Redwood City, a janitor at Stanford University.

A witness, Matthew Triplett, 531 Stanford, who saw the mishap from his front porch, told the patrolman that the youngster rode into the path of the car from behind a parked vehicle. Howard said he was traveling about 25 miles an hour at the time. Triplett said he had earlier warned youngsters playing near his house to be careful about going into the street.

Randy was pronounced dead on arrival at Sequoia Hospital. Death was attributed to multiple internal and head injuries. No citation was issued.

The youngster is survived by his mother, Mrs. Linda Troxell.

Car, Boat Damaged In Garage Blaze

A fire apparently starting on a work bench destroyed a garage, an expensive car and a boat and damaged two homes Monday in Redwood City.

Firemen said the fire started in the detached garage at the Michael R. Cabak home, 150 Fulton Street, shortly after 11 a.m.

Flames were engulfing the garage, a small boat and a $6,000 imported car when firemen arrived. Damaged were the rear portions and roofs of the Cabak home and of the adjacent Joseph Washington residence, 162 Fulton.

Mrs. Cabak told fire investigators that she had been painting articles in the garage and had gone into the house. Not three minutes later, she reported, she looked out to see smoke coming from the garage.

Fire Marshal George Asvos reported that Mrs. Cabak ran to the garage with the intention of driving out the car, but discovered after getting in the vehicle that she had forgotten the ignition key. Ropes suspending the small boat from the rafters burned in two and the blazing boat dropped onto the car, setting it afire, Asvos said.

Total loss was estimated by Fire Chief Joseph L. Lodi at $13,000.

S.C. Woman Is Charged In Stabbing

A San Carlos woman was jailed on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon Monday after she allegedly plunged a steak knife into the chest of her boyfriend when he threatened to smash the television set because she refused to turn down the volume.

Lodged in county jail was Judith Kay Pant, 29, an electronics assembler, of 589 Cedar Street.

Reported in a satisfactory condition at County General Hospital is Robert Murray, 33, a trimmer, also of 589 Cedar.

Mrs. Pant told Policeman Art Cross that she and Murray had returned from a Redwood City bar and that Murray was intoxicated. He became angry, claiming the TV was turned on too loud. Murray went to the bedroom and returned with a boot and headed for the television set as if to break it when he was stabbed in the left side of the chest with the steak knife, the woman related to Cross.

The officer said he found Mrs. Pant crying and Murray sitting in a chair, slumped over unconscious, his head on a table, when neighbors summoned police to the residence.

Drug Store Safe Smashed

Redwood City police are seeking safe-smashing burglars who broke into Schader Owl Drug 1832 El Camino Real, making off with between $3,000 and $4,000 cash.

The burglary was discovered shortly before 10 a.m. Monday when employees arrived to open the store for business.

Police reported that entry to the store was made through a double rear door by insertion of a pry bar to push a metal locking bar out of its slot, then prying off a padlock hasp.

Once inside, the burglars took all of the currency left in the cash registers for the opening of business yesterday.

A 2000-pound safe was rolled about 20 feet to a display aisle where it was overturned and smashed open to get at its contents, police said. The safe was attacked with such force, that knobs and dials were scattered throughout the store, it was reported.

Officers said that a board used as a counter top over the safe was placed to block the display aisle and hide the burglars' operations on the safe from view from the street.

The burglars evidently were interested only in currency police noted, with change and narcotics being left in the safe.

Recruiting Firm Formed

Formation of Thomas A. Kelley Associates, a new executive recruiting firm in Palo Alto, is now complete, according to Tom Kelley, president, this week.

Kelley, who has a BSME from Rice University and an MBS from Stanford, has an extensive background in both plastics and chemical sales, as well as two years experience as employment manager at Raychem Corp. in Menlo Park.

Kelley's plan is to recruit technical, professional and managerial people for a small, carefully selected group of companies throughout Northern California.

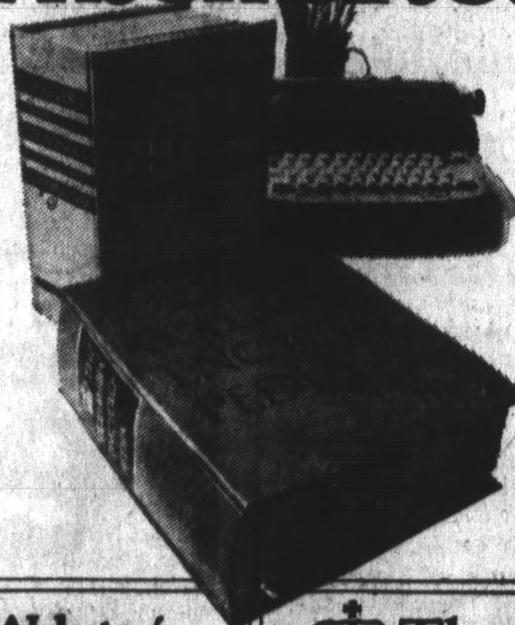

Offices are at 800 Welch Road, Palo Alto.

Try Sautéing Mushrooms

All good cooks know that it takes ever so little extra effort to turn plain ordinary food into something really special. Try lightly sautéing sliced mushrooms in the dairy fresh butter you serve over green vegetables. Three tablespoons of butter to four ounces fresh mushrooms, sliced ... or even a small can of "stems and pieces" ... will make a really big difference. Great, too, with scrambled eggs for breakfast, lunch or supper.

Eight ounces of Cheddar cheese gives you as much protein as a full pound of steak. That is one day's requirement of protein. And cheese gives you a bonus — there isn't any waste.

The Smart Set.

2 teaspoons finely grated orange peel
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
Paprika

Cut orange into bite-size pieces; drain thoroughly. Simmer onions until heated; drain. In small saucepan, stir flour into melted butter to form a smooth paste; add salt. Gradually add milk, stirring until mixture is smooth. Bring to a boil over medium heat; stir constantly and boil for three minutes. Stir in grated peel, Worcestershire and mustard. Pour hot sauce over drained onions; gently stir in orange pieces. Sprinkle with paprika; serve at once.

1/4 cup freshly squeezed lemon juice
2 California oranges, peeled, cut into bite-size pieces, drained
Cook Brussels sprouts, uncovered, in boiling salted water until just tender, but not soft; drain. In small saucepan, melt one tablespoon butter; stir in flour and salt to form a smooth paste. Gradually add milk, stirring constantly until smooth. Continue stirring and allow mixture to gently boil one minute. Remove from heat and blend in egg yolk and remaining butter. Stir in grated orange peel and citrus juices. (Sauce may be kept warm over hot water.) To serve, combine cooked Brussels sprouts and drained orange pieces. Add hot sauce and toss lightly.

Repeat layers, using remaining sweet potatoes, grated peel and orange cartwheels. Combine orange juice, cranberry sauce and honey. Place in electric blender for 20 seconds or beat with rotary beater until smooth. Heat sauce to boiling point and simmer for five minutes; pour over Turn occasionally until carrots and oranges are glazed thoroughly. Serve at once.

Don't Hold Some Meats

Variety meats are more perishable than other meats. Buy them, planning to prepare without holding.

Included in this category are liver, brains, heart, kidney, sweetbreads, tongue and others. Sweetbreads are so delicate and fragile, they need precooking (in water with lemon juice or vinegar) to make them firm enough for handling.

Tomatoes Originated in South America; Then Italians Made Them Their Own

It is no wonder that tomatoes were at one time grown only as an ornament. A big bright red tomato is truly beautiful.

Cultivated tomatoes originated as wild tomatoes in South America, traveled northward to Central America and gradually spread around the globe.

The Italians grew the tomato about 1850 and are considered the first Europeans to eat it. Without question, there are probably no other people in the world that consume as many tomatoes as the Italians. Spaghetti, pizza, lasagna, yes, but the Italians also eat fresh tomatoes by the bushel. As an example, a typical Italian salad is given here. It is made with tomatoes, strips of good Italian salami and thin slices of cucumber dressed with Homemade Italian Dressing.

In the early days of tomato culture, the French called the tomato "pomme d'amour," and to this day we often hear tomatoes called love apples. A favorite French way of preparing tomatoes is to stuff them. One of the recipes given here call for stuffing the tomato with chicken and rice. If you have never used cold rice in a salad, try this curried chicken and rice salad.

For a simpler salad, more typically American, serve sliced tomatoes on shredded cabbage and dress it with Zesty French Dressing. To dress up the salad make it with poached and marinated whole tomatoes.

Italian Salami Salad
Salami greens (romaine, Boston and western iceberg lettuce), 1 pound salami, cut into strips 1/2 medium tomatoes, cut into wedges or 5 to 10 Italian plum or cherry tomatoes. Cucumbers, sliced.
Homemade Italian Dressing
Core, rinse and drain lettuce thoroughly. Chill in disposable bag or crisper. Tear greens into bite-size pieces; drop into bowl. Add salami, tomato and cucumber. Toss with Homemade Italian Dressing until all greens glisten.

Homemade Italian Dressing
2-3 cup corn oil
3 tablespoons wine vinegar
1 tablespoon water
2 teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons sugar
1 1/2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 clove garlic, split
Dash red pepper
Dash oregano
Combine all ingredients in bottle. Toss with Homemade Italian Dressing until all greens glisten.

Chicken and Rice Stuffed Tomato
2 tablespoons corn oil
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon curry powder (optional)
Dash pepper
1 1/2 cups cold cooked rice
1 1/2 cups cubed cooked chicken
1 cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
3/4 cup real mayonnaise
Mix corn oil, vinegar, onion, salt, curry powder and pepper. Toss with rice, mixing well. Chill about 1 hour. Just before serving, add chicken, celery, green pepper and mayonnaise. Mix lightly and well. Use to stuff tomatoes. Makes 6 servings.

Note: Any cooked meat or equal quantities of cooked mixed vegetables and chicken may be used.

Marinated Tomato Salad
Tomatoes
Zesty French Dressing
Fresh or dried basil
Salt
Finely shredded cabbage
For each serving: Cook one medium tomato in simmering, not boiling, water until soft but still firm enough to hold its shape. Drain carefully. Peel and trim off stem end. While still warm, place in shallow dish, and pour a little Zesty French Dressing over tomato; sprinkle with basil and salt. Cover. Chill, basting occasionally. Toss finely shredded cabbage with Zesty French Dressing, if desired. Spoon onto serving plate. Arrange tomato on top.

Zesty French Dressing
1 cup corn oil
1-3 to 1/2 cup cider vinegar
1 to 3 tablespoons sugar
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1 clove garlic
2 tablespoons ketchup
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Measure all ingredients into a bottle or jar. Cover tightly and shake well. Chill several hours, then remove garlic. Shake thoroughly before serving. Makes 1 and one-third to 1 1/2 cups.

Several N. County Gridders To Report to S.M. College

Eleven returning letterman and 16 incoming high school (first team) all-leaguers are among the group of 70 players who have turned out for the 1969 College of San Mateo football team.

Practice gets underway on campus Monday morning (Sept. 1) with three-a-day sessions on tap until the start of classes, Sept. 10.

Topping the newcomers is North-South Shrine Game star Tom Scott, flankerback from Serra High. Other prospective offense stars include quarterback Bob LeBlanc from Woodside, halfbacks Lory Bernadine (South San Francisco) and Willie Cook (Jefferson), fullback Jim Olmo (SSF), tight end Frank Anderson (El Camino), and tight end Randy O'Brien (Carmona).

A couple of incoming defensive specialists are linebackers Bill Liddy from Aragon and Mike Clabby (Westmoor) plus defensive back Phil Andre (SSF).

CSM's leading offensive stars of last year will be returning too.

Bulldog rushing pacesetter Jim Teames is back at fullback (along with twin brother Bob, a star guard for the Mateans). Both are El Camino High graduates.

Versatile Mike Barr, CSM's

do-everything tailback from returnee is guard Chris Hunt (Hillsdale), a second-team All-Golden Gate Conference selection as a defensive lineman. He's one of just a dozen freshmen who were recognized by San Mateo's "most-honored" the tough GGC last season.

A Defense For Juan Marichal

By LE PACINI

IT'S ABOUT TIME, we think, that someone take the defense for Juan Marichal.

If Marichal has never annoyed or disappointed you, it may seem strange that a guy who wins 20-25 games a year as easy as you take days off, needs defending. But if he has annoyed or disappointed you, as he has done us — and many Giant fans — that Marichal needs defending will not only seem right, but over-due.

To understand our — the detractors' — bone of contention, one must know of Marichal's injuries and illnesses, real or imagined.

Following, as best as we could research it, is Marichal's boo-boo chart, which reads like a Viet Nam casualty list:

1960 (year he broke in) — What was to be recurring back problem kept him out a good part of a month.

1961 — Missed most of September with foot injury.

1962 — Missed most of September with foot injury. Hurt finger in World Series, pitched only four innings.

1963 — Only year he didn't miss a start, but was often hampered by bad back.

1964 — Pinched nerve in back caused him to miss about six starts.

1965 — Besides recurring back problems, missed 11 days because of suspension in Roseboro slugging case. Also mostly ineffective thereafter because of "psychological" wounds.

1966 — Missed six starts and was often at half efficiency because of two pulled groin muscles, elbow injury, wrenched ankle, bruised knee, bruised finger, bad back, sprained ankle, strained shoulder.

1967 — Missed almost three weeks with a pulled leg muscle, came back briefly and then aggravated the injury, missing what remained of the season, which was almost half of it.

1968 — Missed several starts due to various illnesses.

All of the above, plus a chronic respiratory malfunction, has caused Marichal, in his nine plus years in the majors (including one partial season when he broke in) to miss roughly the equivalent of about a season and a half. This doesn't count all of the times he's pitched at only limited efficiency because of one thing or another.

YET, HE'LL probably finish this season with over 200 wins. Five times he has won 20 or more, three of those times it's been 25 or more. At this writing, he has the best won-loss percentage in baseball history. He's been named to eight All-Star teams and has an ERA in this classic of 0.56. We could go on. The point is, why do so many people malign him?

Basically, it's because we always expect too much of the super-talented. And Marichal, who has ailments, who has a relatively slight build not exactly conducive to the physical punishment a "stopper" must accept, who has the wrong temperament for a pitcher, has undeniably done all that he has done with pure talent.

To understand just how good Marichal is, despite all of his infirmities, you must compare him with another great. A natural comparison would be with the Giants' greatest all-time right hander — one of the greatest of all-time — Christy Mathewson.

MATHEWSON WAS A BIG, robust, untemperamental guy with no record of serious injuries or illnesses (none of mild ones, for that matter) and with the added advantage of having been born in this country and not having had to fight a language and social-cultural barrier along with everything else.

Mathewson won 373 games in 17 years. If Marichal pitches about that long with no more injuries than usual, he should win around 340. Mathewson's winning percentage was .664. Marichal's, going into this season, was .668. Mathewson won 24.5 per cent of his team's wins, Marichal 23.2 going into '69.

Mathewson's lifetime ERA was 2.13, fifth highest of all-time. Marichal's, after 1968, was 2.63. Mathewson averaged about 4.5 shutouts per season, Marichal about 4.1.

Marichal ranks 14th on the all-time list for hits allowed per game by starting pitchers, 7.67. Mathewson allowed 7.9.

Mathewson ranks 19th in fewest walks allowed per nine inning game, at 1.58. Marichal has averaged 1.8.

Marichal ranks 11th among the all-timers in average strikeouts per nine inning game — 6.54. Mathewson is completely out of it — 4.7.

Mathewson averaged 30 complete games per season, Marichal 23 (don't forget that relief pitchers were rarely used in Matty's time).

Mathewson, during his prime years, averaged 321 innings pitched per season. Marichal, with all of his injuries, has averaged 297.

We could delve into many more statistical facets, none in which Marichal comes off a poor second . . . some of which he comes off a strong first.

Our point is this. We're not attempting to determine who has been the greatest pitcher — Marichal or Mathewson. We only offer concrete evidence that Marichal, with all of his missed opportunities, compares favorably with one of the acknowledged all-time greats.

MISCELLANY: If you're among the many who are confused over all of the Mays' (or variations of that name best known as belong to Willie Mays) now playing in the majors, following is a handy-dandy identification table:

CARLOS MAY: This is the White Sox rookie outfielder who recently blew his thumb off while loading a mortar for the National Guard. He's 21 years old, 5'11, 200, throws right, bats left, was headed for possibly Rookie of the Year, is the brother of Cincinnati's Lee May.

LEE MAY: This is Carlos' brother. He's the guy who hits so well for the Reds, as everybody on the team does. Lee is 26, 6'3, 185, bats and throws right, plays first but has filled in as an outfielder.

LEE MAY: This isn't a misprint. This is the Lee May, no relation to the above two, who now plays the outfield for Washington. He's also played for Milwaukee, Houston and Cleveland. This is his eleventh year in the big leagues. He's 34, 6'2, 185, throws right, bats left, has a lifetime BA of .276.

DAVE MAY: Originally a Giant, this young outfielder was drafted by Baltimore in 1962 and had cups of coffee with them in '67-'68. Has a great minor league hitting record, has led two leagues in batting, and hits with power. He's 25, 5'10½, 186, throws right, bats left.

JERRY MAY: Rudy is the only pitcher in the group, a southpaw local product who attended San Francisco State. He's 6'2, 202, 25 years old. He's been with the Angels off and on since '65 — mostly off because of a bad wing.

WILLIE MAYS: Where do we start?

AND THEN THERE'S John Mayberry, one of those young Houston Colts since farmed out. He's a 19-year-old southpaw first baseman, 6'3, 215.

We can't resist this Monty Moore-ism. Last week Sal Bando, in the throes of a slump (and you know how Monty and Al suffer with their heroes), smashed one that was caught up against the center field wall. Monty's description went something like this: "Oh boy, that one's really blasted. It may be outta here. He's (the center fielder) going way back, back, back, and he CATCHES the ball . . . (long pause to rationalize it all). Man, I don't think he (the center fielder) even SAW the ball!"

LOCAL NOTES: Al Figue's championship Terra Nova baseball team, playing sans seniors and under a different name, did it again this summer. Playing as American Legion Post 238, they won one league, came in second in another . . . Pacifica's Dolphins, the Pop Warner League entry, play their league opener Sunday.

All Three SMJCD Teams Will Compete in Soccer

All three San Mateo Junior College District colleges will compete in the same athletic league this fall — but only in one sport.

The Western Junior College Soccer Conference draws its participants from Bay Area junior colleges who regularly compete in three other conferences for the remainder of their sports programs.

Soccer will be the first sport for new Skyline College in San Bruno and the first fall sport for Canada College in Redwood City — which inaugurated athletic competition last winter with basketball and wrestling in the Camino Norte Conference.

The two neophytes will get plenty of competition from College of San Mateo, the two-time defending league champion. But sophomore CSM coach Stu Carter has plenty of reason for concern too.

Canada coach Sil Vial tutored CSM to its first championship in 1967 and has spent the past year preparing the Colts for their European style football debut.

Meanwhile Skyline has picked highly successful Norm Friedberg as its first coach. Last year Friedberg's Galleo High School team was the undefeated Academic Athletic Association champion in San Francisco and many of Friedberg's former players have helped make City College of San Francisco the most successful team in junior college soccer. (CCSF was the undisputed king of JC soccer until CSM broke up the monopoly by tying the 1967 WJCS crown and then taking the title outright in 1968. The week of October 14 will mark the first league competition in any sport between members of the San Mateo Junior College District.

On October 14 CSM will play at Canada and on October 16 Skyline will at San Mateo, both at 3 p.m. The first athletic meeting between Canada and Skyline takes place October 28 at Canada's field.

The WJCS will be comprised of seven teams this season, strictly to JC eligibility rules.

Other Bay Area junior colleges such as Menlo and Merritt also field soccer teams but no longer choose to participate in the WJCS because of JC eligibility restrictions. The WJCS is the only junior college league in the state which adheres to strictly to JC eligibility rules.

Injured In Accident

A Pacific man is in satisfactory condition in Peninsula Hospital, Burlingame, today following a one-car accident yesterday on Junipero Serra, between Sneath Lane and San Bruno Avenue.

William K. Egan Jr., 30, of 89 Salada Avenue, received multiple lacerations of the skull and hand after the car he was driving overturned, pinning him under it. Two passengers, John R. Kippenstein, 31, of Reno, Nev., and James O. Braumdelier, 3, of 217 Modoc Place, Pacifica, escaped injury.

San Bruno police said the auto was heading south on Junipero Serra at approximately 40 to 45 mph. Coming out of a curve, the driver lost control, police said. The car hit the curbing, ejecting the driver through the door.

The Division of Bay Toll Bridge and the Dumbarton Crossings has issued new toll schedules for the bridges it manages and a series of questions and answers regarding the collection of one-way tolls.

Q. How were the tolls for one-way collection determined?

A. The toll formerly collected in each direction was simply doubled for all classes of vehicles. There is no increase in the cost of round trips across the bridges. For example, on the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, the former 25-cent toll for automobiles becomes 50 cents, but is collected only from westbound vehicles. Commuters buy 25-ticket books instead of 50-ticket books—at the same price, $10.

Q. Which bridges have one-way tolls?

A. The Carquinez and Benicia-Martinez Bridges have tolls northbound and are free southbound, since February 1, 1969. The San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, the San Mateo-Hayward

Bridge will have one-way tolls westbound and be free eastbound, effective September 1, 1969.

The Golden Gate Bridge, which is operated by the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District, collects tolls southbound and is free northbound, but the management has announced it plans to reverse the directions later.

Q. What about the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge?

A. One-way toll collection is not contemplated. The basic toll remains at 75 cents each way for automobiles.

Q. What about the other toll bridges?

A. No change to one-way tolls is contemplated for the Vincent Thomas Bridge or the new San Diego-Coronado Bay Bridge where alternate routes are available. The Southern Crossing of San Francisco Bay will be built for collection from westbound traffic only—at a saving of $7.5 million in toll plaza costs.

Q. How were the free and pay directions determined?

A. The key is the Bay Bridge, which carries the most traffic and is the most congested. Because the peak morning demand is considerably in excess of the bridge capacity, substantial queues are formed in the toll plaza area. Westbound toll collection preserves this existing storage area 17 lanes wide. Some 1,200 vehicles were counted here in aerial photographs taken during a recent morning peak. Were the bridge toll-free westbound, with only five lanes through the toll plaza area, peak traffic would back up onto the Nimitz, MacArthur and Eastshore Freeways, delaying even non-bridge traffic. Once this fact is established, the pay directions on the other bridges are made consistent with it.

Q. But drivers are headed for work in the morning, wouldn't it be better to save time then?

A. Yes, but the major delay is not at the toll booths. Because the incline west of the toll plaza has inadequate capacity, traffic quickly backs up to the East. Careful study shows that elimination of the toll booths would actually result in longer queues and more congestion on the easterly approach roadways. The high percentage of slow morning trucks and buses on the bridge incline contributes to the problem of traffic flow.

Bids Are Called For Two Large SF Airport Jobs

Bid calls for two San Francisco International Airport projects totaling in excess of $3 million were authorized by the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission.

One with a cost estimate of $1,860,000 will be for grading and drainage of some 60 acres of Airport lands west of Bayshore Freeway, including site development and utilities. Included are the areas to be utilized for a new G. & E. substation, and Plot W-2 consisting of approximately nine acres, on which Pan American World Airways will develop a $4 million in-flight food kitchen.

"This is the first phase of our program to develop the west of Bayshore Freeway lands, consisting of some 180 acres, which will be utilized for high priority Airport-airline related uses,"

Man Is Found Dead in Shop

Clarence E. Thompson, 47, was found hanging from a roof rafter of his transmission shop at 233 El Camino Real, Colma, Wednesday afternoon.

Broadmoor Police Chief Ray Savage and Coroner's Deputy Joseph Keegan said Thompson's body was found by a customer, George Cherolis, of 619 Midway Avenue, Broadmoor, at 2:30 p.m. Savage labeled the death a suicide.

"Pan American's plans are to develop a food center here which will serve virtually all that airline's stations throughout the Pacific Basin. The target date for completion is March, 1971."

Hansen told the Commission that expansion of the Airport has reached the point where land requirements for increased tenant activities necessitate the development of the west of Bayshore lands. "This initial phase will require an estimated 968,000 tons of fill," he said, and added that access to the property will be by a temporary haul road off Bayshore Freeway.

The second bid call authorized by the Commission is the furnishing and installation of duct banks and electric power cable to serve the first phase development of Plot 40, the site of American Airlines' superbay hangar which will accommodate servicing and maintenance requirements of the new "super jetliners," such as the Boeing 747, the Lockheed 1011 Tristar and the McDonnell-Douglas DC-10.

The capacity of this electrical work with a cost estimate of nearly $1,200,000, will be designed to meet requirements of future development of the northwesterly portion of the Airport for aircraft servicing and maintenance facilities.

The commission also ratified

Hansen termed the $530,000 project "urgent" so that it may be completed before the beginning of the winter rainy season.

"To expedite the project, we are offering a $2,000 bonus to the contractor for each day under the 25 days allotted for completion," Hansen said. "The contract also provides for payment by the contractor of an equal daily sum, $2,000, for any over-run of the specified time."

The work will include reconstruction of some 2,400 feet of the north end of the runway, the first major work on this portion since it first was built 20 years ago. The balance of the 7,000-foot runway will get an overlay of bituminous material to provide a more even surface for aircraft operations.

"Completion of the work before winter is essential because increased usage of the north-south runways comes during the more frequent periods of southerly winds," Hansen said. He added that it will be the last major paving contract to provide for maximum safety of aircraft operations.
